About

Sara Becker has over 15 years of trial experience, currently with a focus on civil litigation defense, emphasizing First Party Property Defense and Insurance Coverage. She collaborates with clients in the investigation and adjustment of property claims and defends insurers in coverage, bad faith, arson, fraud, and property damage matters.

She also represents defendants at trial and on appeal in complex criminal matters at both the state and federal level.

Sara has worked as a volunteer lawyer with the Georgia Innocence Project assisting in the exoneration of wrongly convicted individuals and has guest lectured at Georgia State University offering her insights as to the practice of criminal defense. She is regularly featured in both local and national media outlets as a commentator on current legal issues.
