

ENTERTAINMENT LAW

We have negotiated complex music and artist investment contracts, documentary and feature film production and distribution deals, music producer agreements, entertainment venue contracts, merchandising agreements, management agreements, sponsorship and promotion agreements, and long term engagements with some of the largest music publishing and recording companies in the industry. Legal work in this area is synonymous with protection of intellectual property rights, but is further impacted by the developed and highly nuanced area of film production, and music publishing, distribution, and copyright law. Our services include:

- Negotiating talent and independent contractor agreements
- Labor, employment, trademark and copyright representation
- Copyright auditing prior to film distribution
- Representation of musical performers, investors, agents and managers, actors, writers, film producers, and filmmakers
- Spokesperson agreements
- Model release agreements
- Crowd release and site release agreements
